Welcome to ISQOLS 15th Conference on Quality of Life: Towards a Better Society

The International Society for Quality-of-Life Studies (ISQOLS) is holding its 15th Conference in the beautiful city of Innsbruck. ISQOLS conferences provide a space for scholars to present their research findings on quality of life, well-being, and happiness, as well as to discuss their relevance for policy making. Scholars from all corners of the world, from many disciplines, with different methodological and theoretical perspectives, and following different approaches meet with one common goal: generating research-based knowledge to contribute to the well-being in societies

The first ISQOLS conference took place more than 20 years ago in British Columbia, Canada; during the past two decades there have been substantial improvements in the availability of information and research techniques. Happiness, well-being and quality of life are well-positioned concepts in the academic world, and governments, corporations, and national and international organizations recognize their importance. It is a good moment to hold a fruitful dialogue about how this research-based knowledge can contribute to people's well-being. Thus, I invite you to come to Innsbruck, to enjoy quality of life in the marvelous scenery of the Tyrol region, and to be part of this conference about Quality of Life: Towards a Better Society.

Mariano Rojas
ISQOLS, President 2017-2018

Stefan Höfer
Chair Local Organizing Committee

The Happy Film @ ISQOLS 2017

Renowned graphic designer Stefan Sagmeister turns science on himself to determine if a person can influence their own happiness. Under the supervision of experts, he pursues 3 controlled trials of Mediation, Therapy, and Drugs, grading himself along the way. But real life creeps in and confounds the process: Art, death, sex, friendship, and love prove to be impossible to disentangle. By becoming the subject of a film at once so soaring and mundane, Stefan's journey gives the rare opportunity to see our most basic human preoccupations in sharp focus and high relief– the questions many of us yearn to answer. His visually unique designs and aesthetic philosophies mark a journey that travels closer to himself than ever intended.

We are thrilled to have Stefan Sagmeister present to introduce his movie and take part in the post film discussion about “personal happiness and societal wellbeing” and “how art can play a role in enhancing societies”.

Together with international partners she launched and implemented the “Eudaimonic and Hedonic Happiness Investigation”, aimed at identifying well-being components across cultures. Richard Wilkinson
Inequality and Sustainable Wellbeing
Alex C. Michalos Lecture

Professor Richard Wilkinson studied economic history and the philosophy of science at the London School of Economics before training in epidemiology. From the 1970s onwards, his research focused on increasing public awareness of the injustice of widening social class differences in death rates. He has played a formative role in international research on the social determinants of health and on the societal effects of income inequality. His books and papers have drawn attention to the tendency for societies with bigger income differences between rich and poor to have a higher prevalence of a wide range of health and social problems. Two of his books have been the subject of documentary films – one called The Great Leveller for the Channel 4 Equinox series broadcast in prime time in 1996 (to coincide with the publication of his Unhealthy Societies) and another, called The Divide (based on The Spirit Level) released in April 2016 and now available on Netflix.

Richard is now Professor Emeritus of Social Epidemiology at the University of Nottingham Medical School, Honorary Professor at University College London and Visiting Professor at the University of York. He wrote The Spirit Level with Kate Pickett, a best seller now available in 24 languages. It won the 2011 Political Studies Association Publication of the Year Award and the 2010 Bristol Festival of Ideas Prize. He co-founded The Equality Trust (with support from the Joseph Rowntree Charitable Trust). In 2013 Richard received Solidar's Silver Rose Award and received Community Access Unlimited's 'Humanitarian of the Year' Award. In 2014 the Irish Cancer Society awarded him the Charles Cully Memorial medal.

In the last few years he has given many hundreds of conference addresses and media interviews round the world, including at WHO, the EU, OECD and the World Bank.

Keynote Lectures

Friday, September 29, 2017 – 18:00 - 19:00

Richard Layard Wellbeing and Public Policy Richard J. Estes Lecture

Professor Lord Richard Layard is Emeritus Professor of Economics at the London School of Economics, where he was until 2003 the founder-director of the Centre for Economic Performance. He now heads the Centre's Programme on Well-Being. Since 2000 he has been a member of the House of Lords and is a keen advocate of making subjective well-being of the people the central objective of governments.

He is a labour economist who has made major contributions on unemployment, inflation, inequality and post-Communist reform. He was an early advocate of the welfare-to-work approach to European unemployment and his work has influenced policy in many countries. In 2008, he was awarded the IZA Prize in Labour Economics.

His influential book Happiness – Lessons from a New Science was published in 2005 and has sold 150,000 copies in 20 languages. A second edition was published in 2011. He also advises the British Government on mental health policy and is an architect of the new revolutionary policy of Improving Access to Psychological Therapies (IAPT). His latest book, co-authored with David Clark, Thrive: The power of evidence-based psychological therapies, was published in 2014.

He has also persuaded the OECD and its member countries to measure the happiness of their people, been an adviser to the UK Office of National Statistics, and he co-edits the bi-annual World Happiness Report (which gets over one million downloads a year). His aim is to persuade governments to choose policies which maximise the happiness of their people, and his current research provides them with the quantitative tools and methods to do this.

Saturday, September 30, 2017 – 18:00 - 19:00

John Helliwell How can happiness research help to build better lives?

Professor John F. Helliwell, of the Vancouver School of Economics at UBC, long-time Research Associate of the NBER, is Senior Fellow of the Canadian Institute for Advanced Research and Co-Director of CIFAR's program on 'Social Interactions, Identity and Well-Being'. Recent books include Well-Being for Public Policy (OUP, with Diener, Lucas and Schimmack, 2009), International Differences in Well-Being (OUP, edited with Diener and Kahneman, 2010), and five editions, 2012-2017, of the World Happiness Report (edited with Richard Layard and Jeffrey Sachs).

He is Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada and Officer of the Order of Canada.

The “Economy for the Common Good” is a complete alternative economic model, both to capitalism and communism. It describes 20 core elements of the legal framework for the economy. The fundamental rules of the game shift from competition and profit-orientation to cooperation and the pursuit of the common good. The initiative started in 2010 and is already supported by 2000 companies from 40 nations as well as a daily growing number of municipalities, universities, and engaged individuals.
